Company results have surprised, coming through slightly better than expected in the results season whilst the daily infection rate continues to rise in South Africa, according to the National Institute of Communicable Diseases.

SA government receipts continue to be strong, and we see consensus revisions of debt to GDP to be slightly better. We saw CPI headline inflation accelerate to over 5% in May, led by higher fuel and food prices. Non-residents remained sellers in the SA bond market and SA sukuk issuers are pricing one year at 4.8%, which increased slightly by 0.30 basis points (bps), and five years at 8.2%, which stayed the same.

The local currency weakened by 3.4% against the greenback, 3.1% against sterling and 2.3% against the euro for the quarter ending June 2021. Value stocks continue to post positive returns while growth slows. While large caps detracted, small and mid-caps contributed just enough to deliver a flat All Share Index (ALSI) for the quarter. Resources posted the first negative month since November 2020 while property stayed in positive territory delivering 3.4%.

Against this backdrop, the Old Mutual Albaraka Income Fund delivered 9.2% for the year ending June 2021, in absolute terms. Local equity and local sukuk were the largest contributors for the quarter.

Looking forward, the global recovery will depend on vaccine rollouts and how effective vaccines are against the new variant. Global bonds are generating very low income yields. The equity market should be the main beneficiary from money flowing out of the bond market into equities.

Locally, the battle continues with the delta variant weighing in on sentiment and threatening economic recovery. The worst-hit area is Gauteng, where hospitals scramble for the shortage of oxygen and hospital beds. The delays in procuring the Covid-19 vaccine convey sentiment of a lagged economic recovery for South Africa. We expect the South African Reserve Bank (SARB) to hike rates somewhere in 2022, and note that SA resources have always outperformed going into monetary tightening cycles, which are driven by a weaker rand and higher commodity prices.

We remain overweight SA Inc and our asset allocation favours local equities. From a sector perspective, we are overweight resources and healthcare. We remain optimistic about the SA consumer recovery and continue to look for spending in reopening sectors. We like Mr Price and MTN, and our property favourites are Equites and Stor-Age. The fund's asset allocation currently comprises 4.7% property, 1.6% global equity, 9.8% local equity and 83.9% Islamic cash instruments (sukuk). The fund has delivered above-inflation returns for the quarter and since inception. We prefer stable companies with quality balance sheets and strong cash-generative abilities.

FUND COMMENTARY AS AT 30/06/2021

The key to global growth continues to be the pandemic. US expansion and fiscal stimulus continue at a robust pace. US core inflation has increased and the Federal Reserve Board (the Fed) is looking hawkish. Whilst the Fed is not hiking yet, it has a close eye on unemployment to return to pre-Covid-19 levels. However, this leaves inflation to run ahead, and will most likely lead to the Fed hiking more aggressively.

TER is a historic measure of the impact the deduction of management and operating costs has on a fund's value. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER, which includes the annual service fee, may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. Transaction Cost (TC) is a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.
